British, Canadians Heap Destruction On Berlin in Night

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(BUP)—German transmitters of the DFB News Agency went off the air tonight, indicating the possibility that Empire bombers were raiding Germany for the third straight night.

ON THE SWISS-GERMAN FRONTIER, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A neutral diplomat who lived through the Allied bombing of Berlin Monday night described it to a correspondent of the Gazette de Lausanne as a "vision of the Apocalypse" and said the German capital is "burning with a thousand fires."

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A German patrol of giant bombers—only a few hundred short of the 1,000 which hit the city 24 hours earlier—all but paralyzed battered, burning Berlin last night with another 1,500 tons of explosives in the third assault of an offensive by the British-Canadian air forces to smash the Nazi capital.

The four-engined heavyweights stoked fires still raging from previous raids, set new conflagrations and wrought further shattering destruction all the way from the centre of Berlin to its industrial outskirts.

Coal Owners Awaiting Word On Wage Boost

With miners in the Edmonton district settling down to work apparently satisfied to follow the majority vote of District 18, U.M.W.A. coal operators here were awaiting some announcement from Ottawa relating to policy to take care of the proposed wage increases for miners.

"It is simply impossible for the operators here to absorb this increase," one operator stated Wednesday morning. "And unless the wage increase is passed on to the consumer or is taken care of through government subsidies we will be forced to cease production."

Whether or not Edmonton's district will be continued will be discussed at a meeting of the city committee Wednesday afternoon. Mayor John W. Fry announced.

PILE GROWS SLOWLY

The reserve coal pile at the power plant has been building up slowly, but the reserve is very short of the safety mark. R. J. Gibb, city commissioner, stated, "We said that coal will still be brought from the Camrose mine pending the clarification of the situation here."

Coldwell Declares: C.C.F. Party Government Would Guarantee Rights Of People to Organize

A Co-operative Commonwealth Federation government in Canada would guarantee the rights of workers and farmers to organize in groups of their own choice, and would protect all the people against those who would prevent the people's will from being carried out. M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F. party, declared at an overflow on meeting held in Manonah Hall Tuesday night.

Mr. Coldwell spoke to a meeting of over 1,000 persons, who jammed the main floor and balcony of the building, and overflowed into a basement room where the address was heard by loudspeakers. Many were turned away from crowded doors.

Early in his address, the party leader took out against Justice Minister St. Laurent for a denunciation of Harold Winch, leader of the C.C.F. in British Columbia, and the C.C.F. party.

HEADING 18—Bus. Oppor.

The employment of "Old Blood and Guts" in the capture of Alfedena, northwest of Isernia on the route through Avezzano to the Adriatic, was a key move in the Eighth Army's drive.

Another six-mile advance above Alfedena carried them through San Angelo, eight miles west of Castiglione, and only half a mile from Castel Di Stabia.

The Eighth Army advance to San Angelo resulted in the capture of Capracotta, Castel Del Giudice and Pescocostanzo, while the capture of Alfedena was occupied along with Alfedena.

ALGERIES, Nov. 24.—(CP)—Canadian troops have signalled their progress in the capture of Alfedena after a two-week rest by stopping a strong German counter-attack. Continued on Page 2, Col. 8.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Nov. 24.—(AP)—More than 100 United States bombers and fighters loosed 142 tons of bombs and fired 35,000 rounds of ammunition Tuesday against the Japanese base at Jagla, New Britain.

Col. Drew Macpherson as a democratic principle which he said a C.C.F. government, like any other government, would put down socialism or forcible resistance to the expressed will of the people. But what is Mr. St. Laurent's record as minister of justice?

Labor Official Warns Naziism Possible Here

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24.—(CP)—Pat Conroy of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said in an address here last night that a Canadian form of Naziism was possible after the war "unless the people get rid of the representatives of big business who are brazenly in the saddle running our country."

"Big business is not only running the country as it has been ever since confederation, but has now dropped the camouflage," he said. "Thousands of representatives of big business are at Ottawa while labor has only about a dozen in purely advisory capacities without any power."

27,000 ORDERS IN COUNCIL

Mr. Conroy said that since 1929, there had been 27,000 orders-in-council issued, all coordinating the people into strait jackets, so that in one way or another they come under the control of big business."

He claimed that only one order-in-council "was supposed to have contained anything in labor's interest," the one "supposed to bring about compulsory bargaining."

The order-in-council on compulsory bargaining was the only one which did not carry any penalties because "that would have meant they would have been imposed in this case on the employers," he said.

Chief Constable In Discussion On Delinquency

Juvenile delinquency is on the upswing in Edmonton, Chief of Police Regional Jennings stated when he addressed members of the Cosmopolitan Club at their weekly luncheon held at the Coronet hotel Tuesday.

Neither the province of Alberta nor the city of Edmonton have proper facilities in which to handle delinquents after they are convicted by juvenile court judges he stated. As an example he pointed out that a bad case it eventually taken to the senior court and the boy is sentenced to jail, where, as has been found in many instances, he emerges as a hardened criminal immediately.

Edmonton's police force was staffed by at least 25 constables at the present time. The problem of this city is that of its scattered terrain which takes in 42 square miles. Provicer cars, three in number, and rapid equipped motorcycle police are used extensively to cope with the large city area. Chief Jennings stated that this system is working out splendidly and that most likely a request for additional equipment would be made after the war.

The R.C.M.P. the American Army Provost Corps and the R.C.A.F. military police received great praise by the chief for their close co-operation with his department.

HISTORIC "FIRSTS" IN RUBBER

First to use Carbon-black in Tire Treads

The B.F. Goodrich discovery that Tripled tire mileage overnight

In the early years of the automobile, a motor tire into the country was a big event. Preparation for it was made days in advance, and they usually included the packing of four or five spare tires and tubes, as well as an abundance of tire patches to repair punctures.

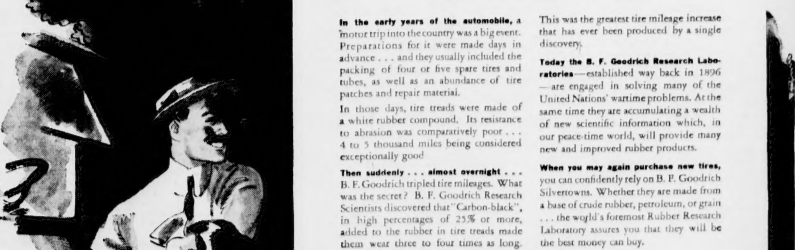

In those days, tire treads were made of a white rubber compound. Its resistance to abrasion was comparatively poor. . . . 4 to 5 thousand miles being considered exceptional good.

Then suddenly, . . . almost overnight, . . . B.F. Goodrich tripled tire mileage. What was the secret? B.F. Goodrich Research Scientists discovered that "Carbon-black," in high percentages of 25% or more, added to the rubber in tire treads made them wear three to four times as long.

This has been the best mileage increase that has ever been produced by a single discovery.

Today the B.F. Goodrich Research Laboratories established way back in 1906 — are engaged in solving many of the United Nations' wartime problems. At the same time they are accumulating a wealth of new scientific information. . . . In our peace-time world, will provide many new and improved rubber products.

When you may again purchase new tires, you can confidently rely on B.F. Goodrich. Whether they are made from a host of crude rubbers, petroleum, or grain — the world's foremost Rubber Research Laboratory assures you that they will be the best money can buy.

SAFETY FIRSTS . . . that make your tires last longer

- Drive below 40 M.P.H.
- Check tire inflation weekly
- Have tires inspected regularly

These are firsts in safety for your protection, which were lacking in the old tires. They must last you for the duration. There are no more "cheap" tires. The new B.F. Goodrich tires are made of a superior rubber for ordinary civilian needs. So, you can have the best with your present tires.

What bewilders the capital is that Dr. Frigon should not have realized the gravity of the step of taking an item of policy to the minister and, equally, that Mr. LaFleche even permitted the interview to take place. The law is specific and clear. The functions of the minister

It is agreed that the fact that Dr Frigon approached the minister after that the minister allowed himself to become involved in a matter of policy, raised fundamental issues involving the basis of public ownership of radio. Hitherto, infor-ence of C.B.C. policy by the government of the day has been recognized as the greatest peril to be guarded against.

The gravity of the situation thus created becomes apparent if the un-visions of the Canadian Broadcasting Act and the past record of the CBC is recalled. The purpose of the bill is to prevent radio from falling into the hands of a private monopoly. It was recognized that radio, by its nature, lends itself to monopoly control. Parliament decided that the public interest required that the monopoly be exercised by a public corporation, free from political or other influence. The statute was drafted with extreme care and the powers of the government, the minister, the board of governors, and the management were closely defined. In the early years, many precedents were established but the exercised only in accordance with the provisions of the statute. The management of the corporation is therefore, independent within the terms of the statute." The CBC, however, went on, was to assume responsibilities for its policies and aims, subject only to statutory safeguards.

The minister had the power to deal with the licensing of radio stations and the awarding of wavelengths. The minister was the channel of communication between the government and parliament on the one hand and the board of governors on the other hand. The minister must approve of negotiations between CBC and foreign governments. The CBC could not enter into agreements involving more than $10,000 or leases exceeding three years without ministerial approval. But these and similar functions exhausted the power of the minister.

At no point did the minister have any authority to say one word about the management and the domestic policies of the CBC, about programs and artists, hiring of sta-

"It looks to me," concluded Dingell, "that this is a result of the Army having too much money, for one am not in favor of skinning the taxpayer just to please the brass who don't know how to plan."

Director Smith has now cut 13 billions from the Army appropriations bill. But Representative Dingell points out that the Army is spending only 7 billions a month while getting 29 billions from the taxpayer. He is determined to see even more pruning.

Wild Life in Canada Shows Big Increase

By JAMES MCCOOK

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—(CP)—With the wild life of war blowing them good, most of the wild birds and animals of Canada increased in number this year—a year in which ammunition is needed for more deadly purposes than sport.

A survey by The Canadian Press reveals "notable" increases in numbers of ducks and geese passing through Canada, in spite of refusal of federal authorities to release ammunition for sport, most provinces reported hunters out in fair numbers, apparently drawing on stocks of shells bought in the past.

Most provincial game authorities said there were few evidences of game birds and animals causing unusual damage to crops. Farmers who have to protect crops can obtain ammunition when it is available.

Federal and provincial officials agreed that no particular increase in the number of bears has occurred, and bounty payments indicated there has been no unusual increase in number of wolves in any province.

SOME CROP DAMAGE

E. S. Forsyth of Regina, Saskatchewan Game Commissioner, said there have been "many complaints" from farmers suffering losses from migratory waterfowl. Sheep were being killed by coyotes and in the northern part of the province by timber wolves and bears.

Ducks Unlimited, an organization for the preservation of wild life, estimated there were 100,000,000 waterfowl in Manitoba this year, with ducks showing the greatest increase.

Some Manitoba crop losses were attributed to wild life but in no district was damage severe.

The prairie provinces generally reported a decrease in number of hunters.

PROTECTION REASON

In British Columbia, Game Commissioner Frank R. Butler said wild life is on the increase but he said he does not think the shortage of ammunition is the cause, but rather laws for the protection of wild life.

Wailin' Welch Is "Crying" Over Saturday's Game

By SID FEDER

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 24.—(AP)—It is a pleasure to report that although Frank Leach, the owner of Notre Dame, apparently has abdicated the crying towel title of the gridiron world, Wailin' Welch of the Navy isn't going to let the throne go without a fight.

Only 24 hours after Frank stepped down from the head of the parade by calling his Irish steamroller, Wailin' Welch, who practically overflew the banks of the Severn here with his tears over what Army's backs may do to his poor little Navy glue-foot footballers Saturday.

Only, who got the idea that the lump in his left cheek was his own rolled up tongue, rather than an outside chunk of chewing gum because (A) he gave you the same daps and pats a year ago—and then pulled the season's big, best rabbit out of the hilted hat by flattening Army, and (B) his middle machine this year is better than it was then.

"But," began Welch's blustering chant, "the Navy's going to tell me that Army's team with Jack Minor, a 9.5 point man, Glenn Davis who can do 9.5 and Maxson and Anderson who can break 10-flat for the 100."

"In my book, this is the best Army team since Elmer Elphinstone and Gene Vidal led the Army parade in 1916."

It might be remembered that Navy ran up 24 points in beating Penn compared to the Army's 13 in place to a tie with the Quakers, and that Navy ran up bigger scores against Cornell, Duke, Penn and Columbia than any collection playing any of those outfits this season.

One Flier Killed, Second Bails Out As Planes Collide

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask., Nov. 24.—(CP)—One aviator from No. 35 Service Flying Training School, R.C.A.F., was killed and another bailed out to safety when their plane collided with another training machine near Little Manito Lake, 30 miles west of North Battleford, yesterday. The second plane returned safely to the air station. Next-of-kin of the aviators have been informed and their names will be released shortly.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

Exclusion to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Two pictures ailed out yesterday from a sports page of the New York Herald Tribune—Sgt. Barney Ross and Primo Carnera. The jumble of war, that changed the pattern of lives and sent men along strange battle paths, achieved an unusual coincidence in having the photos of these two former boxing champions in print on the same day because of action in history's greatest fight.

Barney's picture was there because of his citation by President Roosevelt for his heroism a year ago on Guadalcanal. Primo's likeness was there because of a destiny for the Italian giant never anticipated by the inhabitants of Jacob's Beach.

POSS—NO SURPRISE
The gallery of Ross at Guadalcanal—already a part of the U.S. Marines' tradition—caused little surprise along Jacob's Beach. Fight followers knew that the former lightweight and welter king was a "dead game" guy. He had proved that, beyond question, in the ring.

But of Carnera, they were not sure. They doubted his courage, as well as his ability, although he did wear the world heavyweight crown nearly a year. Moreover, the ponderous pugilist from Segual, Italy, who registered 254 pounds, and six feet five and three-fourths inches, was generally regarded as a ponderous, multiple duke of American mobsters.

The unfortunate combination of his prime gullibility and the mobster's manipulations led to an atrocious wane after Carnera's American tour from 1930 to 1933 when he won the title by knocking out Jack Sharkey in the sixth round at Madison Square Garden.

He was knocked out by one Bombo Chervallini at Oakland, Cal., whose seconds apparently tossed in the towel prematurely.

PRIMO'S "SECRET POUCH"
Who doesn't know if "ambulating Barney" was aware that some of his opponents were taking "dive," but he was certain he thought he had knocked out Jack Sharkey that night he won the title. Some writers questioned the legitimacy of that night. But Carnera sat there on a rubbering table that night, a bottle of wine grasped in one hand, bellying with delight through his big teeth. He had done it with his secret pouch—a right uppercut

EVIDENTLY PRIMO
STILL QUOTE OAKS
ON THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A report published abroad that Primo Carnera was captured by the Germans in Italian warfare and was facing a firing squad caused a host of laughter at this frontier post where it was learned that the former heavyweight champion's vaudeville show had postponed a visit to Come because of his "in disposition."

Primo, who gave up boxing for wrestling and then did bit parts in Italian films and more recently has organized his own vaudeville company, was scheduled to play at Come beginning Tuesday.

The newspaper, Provincia Di Como announced Nov. 18 that the opening had been postponed because the show had been prevented leaving Cremona by the champion's indisposition, the nature of which was not mentioned.

EASY FOR ORIZ
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Maurice "Maud" Greise, who successfully defended his title's bantamweight championship for the eighth time this year by punching the previously unbeaten Henry Goldberg of Detroit all over the ring in 15 rounds and earning a unanimous decision of referee Muley Callahan and two judges.

Two Key Members
Wildcats Missing
HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 24.—(CP)—Two key members of the backfield cast were missing and third player—Liaman Ave Zvonk—was just an onlooker last night as Hamilton Flying Wildcats played practice for Saturday's Grey Cup final in Toronto. Saturday, against Windsor's R.C.A.F. Bombers.

The missing halves were Joe Krol, confined to bed with stomachic, and Quarterback Jimmy Smith, who suffered a back injury when Wildcats defeated Toronto Balmain Beach two weeks ago in the Ontario Rugby Football Union final. Coach Brian Timmins announced that Smith definitely will not see action against Bombers, forcing Wildcats to rely upon P.O. Astorley for the pivot call.

Longden Rides Four Winners
SAN MATEO, Calif., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Veteran Jockey Johnny Longden of Calgary, had a field day at Bay Meadows track Tuesday when he rode four winners, including the feature race, on horses owned by his father-in-law, A. C. Green, Canadian sportsman.

Longden, weighted at 111 pounds, piloted Battery to a length and a half victory in the main event, a one-mile run, which was timed in 1:10. The winner, an oddity favorite, paid $3.80, $2.50 and $2.10. The Puck took second, paying $3.20 and $2.50, and Miami Springs was third, getting $2.70.

Longden also hit the wire first with Persim in the first race, Val-d'Ara Rip in the fourth and Seance in the fifth.

Expansion, Development, Of Canadian Air Routes Declared "a Great Drama"

The story of the northern development of aviation is a great drama, and when the history of Canada's aviation expansion is written the pioneers of the northland routes will receive their full measure of praise, Alan Sullivan, Canadian author and playwright, stated on his arrival here Wednesday.

He is on his way to Whitehorse to gather material for a series of dramatic presentations and broadcasts over the C.B.C., a national hook-up on the development of transportation in Canada. The series will begin early next year, he stated.

Commenting on aviation development in the northland, Mr. Sullivan paid high tribute to the daring skill and air-mindedness of the pioneer fliers out of Edmonton, who blazed the trails into the Arctic. Their trails, he said, had developed a breed that cannot be equaled anywhere.

He expressed astonishment at the airport development that has taken place in Edmonton, and said that this city was strategically located on the global air routes.

Author of more than 20 books and many plays, Mr. Sullivan's latest book is "Three Cans to the Moon." He is currently dealing with France and Quebec and Montreal in the year 1008. One of his earlier works, "The Great Divide," which was screened under the title of "The Great Barrier."

Mr. Sullivan will leave Thursday for Whitehorse on the Canadian Pacific Air Lines.

Car Is Damaged Vandals caused damage to the car of A. Clark, 1106 89 street, when he was forced to leave it overnight in the northward part of the city because of running out of gas.

Sees Flooding Of Auto Market Post-War Era

Possibility of the market being flooded in the post-war period with military automotive equipment is one of the problems now engaging the attention of the Federation of Automobile Dealer Associations, E. L. Dubois, Hamilton, president, stated on his arrival here Wednesday to attend a meeting of the Northern Alberta branch of the association.

He expressed the opinion that if and when the material came on the market it should be through the organization from which it originated and not through wrecking firms and other concerns who might get hold of large amounts of equipment.

Mr. Dubois will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Northern Alberta branch of the association. The meeting will be presided over by Frank Wolfe, president of the local association.

Recognizing the place in Canadian industry occupied by the automobile industry, Mr. Dubois' organization is making automotive parts available for essential motoring, and also is co-operating through the National Selective Service in maintaining supplies of mechanics to service the essential motor vehicles.

He said that there were 50 associations throughout Canada affiliated with the central organization, and that membership was increasing at a satisfactory rate.

NEW YORK CITY, — Yesterday afternoon, with General Terry and several others, we had a showing of the new uniforms of the United States Army Signal Corps of the five divisions, written by the Signal Corps and produced and presented by Mr. Golden in various cities throughout the country. These plays and the special acts between each one are going to make a very good show when they are given by a few professional touches added to such experts as Mr. Harry Brandt.

If this could be a successful commercial movie would mean a continuing income for some time to the charities connected with our war services. In addition, the plays written by soldiers have a value because they bring home to the many more of us the soldier's life and point of view in the army. Most of us feel cut off from these close associations, which will at times mean as much to our men who have been in camp here and overseas.

Mr. John Golden, who offered the original grants which brought in these plays, is always anxious to play his part in any entertainment for the war services. After the showing, he took me to the USO club in Hamilton. Here an infantry band played for us and several of the soldiers and sailors did special bits of entertainment for our benefit.

The club seems to me very well run by Mr. Allen. It is a clean, modern place. It meets the needs of the men for it was crowded. The men evidently bring their families here and the atmosphere is one of very pleasant and warm hospitality.

Afterwards I stopped for a few minutes at a dinner given by the business and professional women who are now attending the Herald-Tribune Forum here. I reached home just as my dinner guests arrived.

It is a curious thing, but I always think that I will do only one or two important things when I come to New York City. I always hope that the books and papers I carry in my brief case to read at odd moments will be read and carry on my mind. Said to say, much of the time goes back and forth several times in my journals, before I really have a chance to clear my brief case home.

I shall be back in Washington this evening in time to go to the Red Cross Hospital to show my film of the southwest Pacific and to give a talk tonight in one of the movie houses. I have two more visits before me.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—War Destroys Sweet Picture Faithful Father Man Working With Attractive Girls, Suddenly Made Prosperous, Kicks Over Home Traces, Tries To Keep Up With Youths

The plianting husband is no new comer on the domestic scene. He has always been with us. Probably, if we only knew it, even greater than Adam was called a plianting husband. Anyhow, most of his sons seem to have difficulty in keeping their feet on the straight and narrow way when a good-looking woman crosses their field of vision.

This is indeed, regrettable, for war has caused much weeping and wailing among married ladies and led to many divorces. Hereafter, however, the flirts husband has been an affliction that, like the point, has been more or less confined to the rich, for there is nothing that makes for virtue so much as lacking the price for wrongdoing. The poor man, who would be all right if he could go to feed a wife, was automatically cut off from stepping out with attractive girls who had to be wined and dined.

FINANCE
Scandalous as it may seem, it can only be afforded by those whose incomes are in the upper brackets. The Crotons might indulge themselves in sweeping husbands and wives. Or at least, endure them. They have thought that one of the consolations for wives in having their husbands live in fear of having their Johnnies stolen from them by the military police. They did not have to live like that when they were in the army. They were in the army when they were in the army. They were in the army when they were in the army. They were in the army when they were in the army.

Your Baby And Mine

The unusual, uncomfortable manner in which many a wife of young servicemen must live is being published pretty generally. The conditions are even more deplorable when there is a new baby to be taken care of in a room, or an apartment designed just for one or two persons.

But these are unusual days and one must compromise with the ideal and make the best of the situation one is in.
"Could you, through your column," writes one young mother, "suggest to mothers with their first babies how to live in an apartment? Most of these apartments have no place for drying clothes and one must do laundry where there is a baby. Then there is the difficulty of getting up and down stairs with a carriage of other tenants."

Every apartment has a bathroom and a kitchen and one will have to use one or the other as a clothes-drying room when one is supplied. For this one may use a large rack, on which clothes can be hung and moved about to the room best suited for quick drying. Or, one may purchase small clothes lines and miniature clothes pins that are not too difficult to use in any room. A towel rack with several supports might be fastened outside some window frame thus giving the benefit of air and sun. This device has been used on the location of windows and what such a practice might do to undermine the morale of other tenants.

The use of the thin-type diapers, which dry so easily, would seem to be imperative in such a situation. As for the carriages, unless it is for the baby's room, the porch or area, it should be in the basement or area again (again with ventilation for hung and wet steps are steep).

No one can find perfect solutions for cramped living quarters, but where there are babies one expects to have washing hanging about so this isn't much different from ordinary times. A bit of adventure, a determination to make the best of everything, makes it possible to live under conditions which, were they to be permanent, would seem to be unbearable.
